homa, Indian Territory, and other western central states, came in on Friday evening to look over the Edmonton district. As many more delegates are expected this week from

Michigan and the eastern central

ions is the result of an extensive exposition arranged by the immigration agents at work in the United States to encourage delegates from those states

from which the most of the western

American immigrants come to visit the Northwest during the threshing season. The party which arrived Friday night were to have left for the Vermilion on Saturday, but circumstances prevented. They will leave early in the week for that district. Should the permit these parties of delegates to the States represented by them should ensue.

Landing. The gang consisted of P.
Carpenter, F. Dumont, John Dumont,
M. Michel, Gus. Causelon, M. Savard,
the latter leaving before the completion of the work. The party left here on Sept. 9th, and have been at work continuously since, the only delay being one forenoon during which the snow on the branches in the heavy timber made operations risky for the instrument. The field work on the survey is now completed. Mr. Degendorfer says a comparatively easy
route can be secured not more than 90 miles in length. The route crosses the Sturgeon near the bridge on the Landing trail, treadwork being the most feasible mode of bridging. Besides the Sturgeon and Vermilion rivers, a number of minor streams would need bridging, but none offer impediments of any considerable importance. The roadbed would be very direct and, save some valley work, could be easily prepared.

-A grizzly is being operated on Ross bar near the bridge.

-R. Vance left on Saturday for Star

taking down a load of supplies for his holders of the electric light and power company will be held on Nov. 13th at

AS TO THE PUBLIC LANDS.

The mission of Hon. Messrs. Haultain and Sifton of the Northwest government to Ottawa is undoubtedly in connection with a re-adjustment of the relations between the federal and local governments, in the matter of division of authority and finances.

One of the questions frequently alluded to in the press of the Territories is the ownership of the public lands. At present the public lands of the Northwest are administered by the federal government, and the claim is made that they should be handed over to the local government. Some of the arguments used seem to be based on the idea that the Territories and the Dominion are separate states, independent of each other, now about to enter into a new treaty. The fact is that citizens of the Territories are citizens of the Dominion, and the lands of the Territories are lands of the Dominion. The division of authority between local and federal governments is merely a division for convenience and mutual advantage. The success of the West depends more upon the proper administration of its lands than upon their ownership by one government or another. It is more important how they are administered than who shall administer them. In the West for the past twenty years at least it has been accepted as established that land suitable for homesteading should not be used to produce revenue. That there was more advantage to the country in holding out the inducement of free land to pioneer settlers than in holding the land at a price as a means of revenue. This conclusion was arrived at as the result of bitter experience in the Territories. The idea that the public lands should be given free to settlers has taken such strong root in the United States that there even where a reserve has been bought from the Indians by the central government the land is offered free to actual settlers. The demand for control of the public lands by the Territorial government is based on the idea of using these lands as a means of producing revenue by their sale. The Bulletin takes the position that whoever controls the land suitable for homesteading, it should for many years yet and until the waste places are filled much fuller than they are now, be offered free as an inducement to settlement rather than be sold to produce revenue. The homestead land should not be used to produce revenue, and if it is not to be so used its administration would be a burden and not a benefit to the local government.

This argument does not apply to lands valuable for timber and minerals, which are held for sale in any case, and where development is not seriously hindered by being held for sale. Possibly if the free farm lands are to continue to be administered by the Dominion, owing to the difficulty of determining just what land is valuable for timber and minerals, and what is not it would be a convenience to have these lands also administered by the same authority. But the people of the Territories as citizens of Canada are entitled to the same share of the public revenues for local purposes as are the citizens of other provinces. It is not fair that revenues derived from the timber and minerals of the Northwest should be used for the public purposes of the Dominion at large, when the revenues so derived in every other province except Manitoba are applied to the local purposes of the province. This is a business matter, and if the timber and minerals of the Territories are to continue to be administered by the Dominion government either a fair percentage of the net revenue derived from them should go back to the Territories for the purposes of the local government or a bulk of the revenue should be paid annually for the relinquishment of the right to those revenues by the Territories.

The lands suitable for homestead settlement which have already been alienated by the federal government for the benefit of railway companies, also offers fair ground for a demand for compensation by the local government. While part of these lands were granted in aid of railways built in the Territories a large portion were granted in aid of railways in the provinces. The grant in aid of the C. P. R. is a notable instance of this. The road is some 3,000 miles in length. Only 700 miles of this is within the Territories. But the whole 25,000,000 acres of land with which the road was endowed was selected in the Territories. Even where the railway aided is entirely within the Territories, the grant of lands is a special aid to construction not required in the provinces. There the railways are bought by the federal government in cash. The people of the Northwest are entitled to have their railways aided to the same extent and in the same way. When lands were given instead of cash the result was a saving to the federal treasury of the amount of cash aid usually granted in the provinces. The railways were built not merely for the advantage of the people living along them but as the clause in their charters declares for the general advantage of Canada therefore the burden of necessary aid should be borne by the whole of Canada and not by the Territories alone. Lands of the Northwest which have thus been diverted from the purpose in which is acknowledged to lie their best value, and have been used instead of cash by the federal authority for federal purposes must be settled for in cash from the federal treasury, if the people of the new Northwest province are to be placed on an even financial footing with the people of the other provinces of the Dominion.

For lands that have been or are to be administered to promote the settlement which every one desires, by being offered free to actual settlers, we ask no financial consideration as a province. But for lands that have been or are to be used either to produce revenue for the federal treasury or to save expenditures from it, we as a province are entitled to financial consideration for purely provincial purposes, or we are discriminated against as compared with other provinces of the Dominion.

INDIAN RESERVE.

The tract of country south of Strathcona known as the Indian reserve is covered with stubble fields and grain stacks. Seven steam threshers are finding ample work on it this fall. It is producing many thousands of bushels of grain and thereby adding wealth to the country. Had it remained in the hands of the Indians it would still be a tax eating instead of a tax paying organization. The lesson of this reserve may very well be applied to the case of others similarly situated. The Indians make no practical use of the reserve; they hold. Where the land is good and well situated for market white men can turn it to much better account than the Indians do. A township in a good hunting country and near a fishing lake is more valuable to the Indians than a township of fine agricultural land near a railway station. It is a loss to the country to have such lands lying idle in the hands of the Indians when white men want to use them and are willing to pay for them. It is a loss to the Indian to compel him to remain in uncivilized surroundings to which he cannot adapt himself when he has the opportunity to remove to congenial surroundings, and by the sale of the land ensure himself a comfortable annuity.

Supposing a reserve is of the same area as a surveyed township, six miles square, it contains 23,040 acres. As a matter of fact most of the reserves are somewhat larger. The land in all those remaining along the Calgary and Edmonton railway line in Northern Alberta is worth from $3 to $5 an acre unimproved. Take the higher price for the choice reserves, and a township is worth $115,020. At low interest on this amount at three per cent, $3,450 a year. Placing the number of Indians on a reserve at 200 this would be an annual income of $17 per head or $85 for each family of five. Such an amount paid to the Indians each year in say quarterly instalments, with their removal to other reserves in a better game and fish region would enable them to be entirely self-supporting, at much less cost to the country than at present, and with great benefit to themselves.

The questions of Indian reserves is a very live one in Alberta, and particularly in North Alberta. Of the Calgary and Edmonton railway cuts through some three townships of reserves between Ponoka and Wetaskiwin, and the Stony Plain, Michael's and Alexandre's reserves north of the Saskatchewan are surrounded by settlement. What has occurred in the case of the last reserve reported in the case of the Wolf Creek reserve south of Ponoka, recently thrown open, and would be repeated in the case of each one of the other reserves mentioned, if the opportunity were offered.

Of course the reserves belong to the Indians absolutely and they cannot be displaced except with their consent. But where the reasons for such a new treaty are so strong from the standpoint both of the Indian and the country all that is needed is the proper effort to come to a business arrangement. Heretofore no effort has been made. The Indian department has set itself steadfastly against any attempt at displacing the Indians from their reserves. The Strathcona and Ponoka reserves were abandoned by the Indians or they would be unproductive and a bar to settlement yet. Where a reserve was taken over the price was placed in the Indian fund and from time to time expenditures from the fund were made on behalf of the Indians. But the Indians were not allowed to handle the money, they were allowed to have just what they wanted from its use. It could not be expected that the Indians would be anxious to sell on such terms. But if the Indians were to be paid in cash the annual interest on the selling value of their lands is not so doubtful; they would sell readily; and allow the lands now locked up to become available for settlement, while they would remove to more congenial conditions further away from settlement, which experience has proven to be a curse and not a blessing to the Indian.

OATS FOR AFRICA.

The following telegram was received from Prof. Robertson in reference to a meeting between himself and the grain buyers from points along the C. & E. line to arrange for the purchase of half a million bushels of oats for South Africa:

Ottawa, Oct. 25, 1901.

"To F. Oliver, M. P., Edmonton.
"Please arrange have buyers to meet me Calgary Wednesday next week. Reply."

Notice was sent to points along the line of the date of meeting. It is to be hoped that the result will be the sale of a large quantity of Alberta's surplus oats and a consequent relief to the market.

—Magnificent weather continues.
 —Miss Turnbull left this morning to take the position of matron in the Leithbridge hospital.
 —Const. Dean returned yesterday from an outing at Beaver lake and resumed duty this morning.
 —Several slides have taken place on the railway grade south of the river, delaying operations somewhat.
 —The Philharmonic society meeting advertised to be held to-night under the direction of Prof. S. Jones, is postponed until Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th.
 —S. B. McNamara, recently transferred from the C. P. R. telegraph office here, to Calgary, goes to Moose Jaw on Thursday to take charge of the office there.
 —Mrs. J. C. C. Bremner, of Clover Bar, gave a luncheon party on Saturday in honor of Mr. W. F. Fiedler. About thirty guests attended from Edmonton and report a most enjoyable time.
 —Pansies, dahlias, verbena, phlox and California poppies, candy tuft and mignonette are in full bloom in the flower gardens in town. An occasional aster, sweet pea, and stock also remain in bloom.
 —F. Teta came in from Lac la Poudre on Saturday. He reports the roads as drying and improving rapidly. McLean's survey party was met on the road going to the vicinity of the lake on township work.
 —The old curling rink has been purchased by J. A. Reid & Co., who will use it as a summer rink, principally for British Columbia lumber imported by the firm. Alterations in the building will be made at once and the yard will be in use this winter.
 —A meeting was held in Strathcona Friday night to arrange for the formation of a curling club. Committees were appointed to ascertain the probable cost of a rink and the likely membership. Another meeting will be held this week to organize a club.
 —Edward Dean, of Turnip lake, finished threshing on Saturday. He estimates that his crop will be about 8,000 bushels. This grain is all of excellent quality and was raised on 125 acres. The oats averaged about 64 bushels to the acre and the wheat 26 bushels. All the crop was saved in excellent condition, the wheat being cut before the frost touched it.
 —A smoky haze, all that was needed to make our weather the real ideal Indian summer, obscured the atmosphere on Saturday. It would seem to be caused by fires either on the plains or in the mountains, for no reports have been received of any fires in the district, but as this is the season when conflagrations are generally to be expected that some fires and consequent damages will occur.
 —Sergeant Anderson and Const. Rickdock, of the Lesser Slave lake detachment of the mounted police, were in town Saturday having come down to the Fort with prisoners. They report a quiet summer at the lake. Sergeant Anderson returning in about a week while Const. Rickdock will apply for a pass and spend a month at a visit to his home in Ontario.
 —A meeting of the curling club was held Friday. The present rink having been sold to D. R. Fraser it was found necessary to arrange for club quarters for the winter. An arrangement was arrived at with Mr. Fraser where the club leased the rink for another season. Immediate steps will be taken to form a new company and put up a new rink. Another meeting will be held shortly.
 —The fence around the town pound is to be completed today and the pound will be ready for the reception of all wandering kine, swine, equine and canine. The big dog pound kennel has been moved over and "legless pups" will find a welcome there. With the completion of the pound and the enforcement of the by-law it is hoped to give the farmer some measure of protection. Hitherto the market side has been the rendezvous of wandering animals.
 —The band is busily engaged practicing music for the commemoration service to be held on the anniversary of the battle of the Marston to the memory of the late Capt. T. W. Chalmers, in All Saints' church on Sunday, the 2nd November. The music consists of two sacred marches, "The Ever With the Lord," arranged by Mr. Walter Clarke, and "Bring Them In," introducing a trio "Bark of Ages," arranged by A. W. Hughes. One selection will be rendered on the march to the church and one on returning.
 —D. Macdonald, of Winnipeg, secretary of the National Trust Company of Toronto, arrived in Edmonton and surrounded himself last week for the purpose of reporting on the desirability of establishing a branch here. He was driven around the Stony Plain, Sturgeon river, and Agriola settlements by A. H. Peterson, and returned on Saturday morning most favorably impressed with the position and prospects of the Edmonton district. J. W. Flaherty, president, and W. T. White, general manager of the National Trust Company.
 —School Inspector Bryan returned Thursday from a week's trip through the country over here, during which he covered 300 miles of country. He was accompanied by Bert Johnson. The route travelled was by way of Star, Wostok, Victoria, Egg lake, Jerk Tail Creek, Vegreville, East Beaver lake, around the southern end of the lake to northern and thence to the west side of Rose creek, through the Beaver Hills and back to Edmonton. Threshing was in full blast in the different settlements visited. All the grain is harvested and the sample is fairly good. A great many settlers are pouring into Vermilion. On the way out Mr. Bryan met three ranches going in with cattle and outfit. They had a total of over 200 head of stock.
 —A communication from Strathcona says: R. Ferguson and Mr. Mallory of Fort Saskatchewan were in town on Tuesday. They report threshing in full swing in the country. They are running a threshing outfit and their machine has threshed up to this date over 25,000 bushels of grain. The yield runs from 30 to 40 bushels an acre for wheat and from 40 to 60 bushels for oats. Generally speaking the oats are a fine sample, but some of the wheat is injured. Messrs. Ferguson & Mallory have threshed over 11,000 bushels of their own crop, principally oats. Mr. Mallory left on Thursday morning for Sherbrooke, Quebec. He expects to be gone about a month and will bring back three or four cars of young cattle for ranching purposes.

JAIL SITE PURCHASED.

The department of public works closed a deal this morning with Kenneth Macdonald for the northerly 100 acres of his homestead on river lot 20 east of town, and with P. Heinicke, an agent for D. McDougall for the remaining northerly part of the same river lot comprising 29 acres, to be used as a site for jail building and for a jail farm. The 100 acres purchased from Mr. Macdonald includes a small part of the flat, having a river frontage of about a quarter of a mile, and also includes the right to the coal mines now operated by W. J. Baldwin and J. Milner, under lease from Mr. Macdonald. Mr. Macdonald reserves several acres on the upper level upon which stand his house and stables and the greater part of the flat covered by river lot 20. The price paid Mr. Macdonald is $75 an acre.
 The 29 acres sold by D. McDougall faces Rat Creek, so that by these purchases the government owns from the river through to the creek. The price paid Mr. McDougall is $50 an acre.
 The land is chiefly unimproved, but the soil is of excellent quality and the situation such as to offer every advantage for location of buildings and cultivation of the soil. A roadway traverses the westerly side of the property and a bridge has been erected over Rat Creek by the Northwest government. The intention is to erect the jail facing this roadway and several hundred yards north from the bank of the river valley. From the amount of money spent in a site it is evidently the intention of the government to put up a creditable and no doubt costly building. Certainly they are very much pleased.
